More migrant transfers from Italy to Albania

he move marks the first time an EU country sent migrants to a non-EU country that is neither their country of origin or transit and is made possible thanks to the governmental decree approved in April which expanded the use of the Albanian processing centers to include the detention of migrants with return orders in Italy. Under the decree, the facility of Gjader with the capacity of 144 places can now host irregular migrants directly transferred from Italy, joining the national network of CPRs.
